Matching grant could complete K-H Founders Park

The Friends of Founders Park has received an anonymous challenge gift of $100,000 toward the completion of the second phase of Kelsey-Hutchinson Founders Park.

With construction already under way on part of that project, Friends Chairman Nick Bazan said the latest gift will give a lot of momentum to the group's efforts to raise the remaining funds to finish the park.

"This is a challenge gift, so we are looking to raise at least $100,000 more by Dec. 31 to match it," he said. "With the match, we will have raised approximately $450,000 for this phase of the park. So it is essential that other donors step forward and help us match this gift."

If the matching money is raised, it will bring the group's fund drive to within two-thirds of its overall goal of $700,000.

"This gift, when matched, will give us a major boost," he added.

Coalition urges eradication of Oriental Bittersweet

Armed with Round-Up, Highlands' coalition against invasive plants has Japanese Knotweed, Kudzu and now Oriental bittersweet in its sights.

At the August Town Board meeting, commissioners unanimously voted to help fund the effort to eradicate Japanese Knotweed and Kudzu on town property rights-of-way with a $2,500 grant. At the coalition's Town Board liaison Commissioner Brian Stiehler's

An Hispanic man charged with rape is on the run

Area law enforcement agencies are asking the public to be on the lookout for Marcos Lopez, aka Marcus De La Cruz Lopez.

He is wanted for three counts of statutory rape of a child under the age of 13 and three counts of indecent liberties.

Highlands Police Chief Bill Harrell and Macon County Sheriff Robert Holland are asking anyone who has information on the whereabouts of this individual to call 911 immediately.

They said not to approach him as he is "very aggressive" but to try to collect information safely – all descriptors: clothing, vehicle's tag and direction of travel or last known sighting – and to call 911 as soon as possible.

According to the Sheriff's office, during the course of the investigation and while interviews were being conducted last week the sus-

Special waiver opens school sports to HS 6th graders

Sixth graders at Highlands School will now be able to compete with seventh and eighth grade students in interscholastic sports.

At the September board of education meeting in Highlands, Superintendent Dr. Chris Baldwin reported that after working with State Superintendent of Education June Atkins and the Department of Public Instruction, both Highlands and Nantahala schools received a special waiver to allow sixth grade students to participate in sports for the remainder of the current school year.

Highlands Principal Brian Jetter lead the charge by requesting that the district seek permission. In his request letter, Jetter noted that because of the school's

• THE PLATEAU'S POSITION •

• MAYOR ON DUTY •

The show will go on....

Haven't felt so good since the Friday of the big rain storm a couple of week-ends ago. I had finished taping my radio show around 10 a.m.. In the taping I told everyone to be careful in the rain storm. I left WHLC to help a friend move. I made a trip to the transfer station on Wilson Gap Road. I was back at my friend's house assembling a final truck load for the Emergency Council.

Mayor Pat Taylor

period.

Needless to say, don't expect to see me riding around town in my old red truck for a while. I will be mostly off duty, but our town manager and mayor pro tempore, Brian Stiehler, will make sure town business gets done.

I am going to make every effort to attend the Town Board meeting, tonight at 7 p.m. The meeting is at the Highlands Community Building next to the ball field.

It continued to rain. I walked out of the garage with arms loaded and walked down a wet, wooden ramp. Suddenly, my feet slipped forward, and my body fell backwards. I was on the wet ground with immense pain in my right knee. I knew it was trouble, even before feeling that my patella on the side of my knee instead of on top.

My friend rushed to my aid. I blubbered the words of the old lady in the famous "I've fallen and I can't get up" commercial. He called 911. I remained paralyzed in pain on the rain soaked ground.

The paramedics arrived and placed me on the gurney and into the ambulance. They quickly confirmed what I feared, that my knee had major problems that could require emergency surgery. Before arrival at the ER, the paramedics radioed my status and information to the emergency room, so I went directly to a treatment room where a nurse was waiting. The EMTs and ER nurses were wonderful.

The bad news was confirmed three days later. While I missed surgery on that Friday, I had an operation to repair my torn quadricep five days later. I will be somewhat out of duty for a while. The recovery time for a quadricep that has been reattached to the patella is between six to eight weeks. My leg is in a full cast and the doctor stresses it is critical that I do not bend my leg during the long recovery

There are several major agenda items. One item is approval of funds to complete the final landscaping for the water intake and dam project which will be scheduled for completion within weeks.

The board will also get an update on the search to fill the planning director position. A schedule for interviewing finalist will be presented.

Our energy consultant, Kevin O'Donnell, will make a presentation on town options concerning the coal ash surcharge that Duke Energy wants to apply to our electric utility customers. Highlands has an opportunity to join a coalition of those who have not signed the Duke nondisclosure agreement.

Hope to see everyone at the meeting.

• THANKS •

I would like to thank the many yoga instructors for a wonderful season of Yoga in the Park. I enjoyed each Tuesday evening and appreciate those great people for donating their time. Also, thanks to the Town of Highlands and the park committee for allowing us to use this wonderful park. Thanks again for the great event.

small enrollment of 350 students and its isolation from the rest of the Macon County School system, athletes at Highlands School currently compete with athletic teams that are the closest to them, which includes schools from South Carolina and Georgia, both of which allow sixth graders to participate in middle schools athletics. Highlands also competes with Summit Charter Schools in Cashiers and they, too, allow sixth graders to participate in sports.

Because the schools that Highlands plays against allow younger students to participate, Jetter said that allowing sixth graders in Highlands to also play middle school sports would level the playing field and would give more Highlands students a sports option. Highlands currently has 51 students in seventh and eighth grade and because of the low enrollment, there are only seven students on the volleyball team. Having so few athletes on a team can cause problems for the school's teams if a student is injured or sick. Opening participation eligibility to sixth graders will give the school a larger pool from which to draw students to field athletic teams.

"These challenges are seriously threatening the ability of Highlands School to maintain a middle school athletic program," said Dr. Baldwin in his plea to the state. "Without such a program, many of the interests and needs of young people will go unmet or they will be met through other channels which may not serve the best interests of the students or community."

Beginning with the current sports calendar, students in both Nantahala and Highlands can participate and according to Dr. Baldwin, pending a policy change on the state level, hopefully a permanent change will allow further action to improve the athletic programs at these rural schools.

There are only three K-12 schools left in the state, two of which are located within Macon County, so the change would significantly benefit Macon County students.

I got tears in my ears ....

Yikes! It's that time of the year for me... us. The Highlands landscape is as orange as John Boehner's skin, there's a chill in the air and my nose is beginning to drip, drip, drip. The ends of my fingers are cold and stiff all the time and I feel as if gravity is overtaking me. Most of my friends from our bridge clubs have packed their rain gear and moved on to warmer climes. I must get outta here. Are those snow clouds on the horizon? As much as I love this beautiful plateau, I'm like the hummingbird that's driven south, not because it wants to but because it has to.

Fred Wooldridge

Homer & Jethro were right when they sang, "I got tears in my ears from lying on my back crying over you." That's how I feel about getting out of Highlands in the fall. I don't really want to leave but must to survive.

I love the people of Highlands and, yes, I even love the worst of those dreaded summer folks from the country clubs with their noses in the air, their long stem wine glasses and thousand dollar bills. I must admit some are a little "uppity" but, as a seasoned Miami Beach cop, I had my share of those types in Florida. I have a few special words for them I won't put into print. Remember, they can't help the way they are so I'll be nice.

And for my loyal fans who might be interested, I'll tell you our life styles are about to drastically change. For starters, we're heading from our modest Highlands home to a not so modest North Palm Beach home where the sun is out all the time....yes, I mean, all the time. It's warm.... almost too warm. Okay, okay, I'll say it. It's dad-gum hot, at least until early January when the temperatures finally drop into the seventies. Instead of running the heat all the time that dries our skin, we run the air conditioners that also dry our skin. At least in our Florida home we have the humidity to help keep us moist. The sun....the sun....oh how I love the sun!

But then it happens. A cold front rolls in and the temperature plummets into the mid-seventies. We throw open all the windows and sliders and let the warm balmy tropical air overtake our home. For the first time since arriving, I can sit in our family room, watch and hear the waterfall from our spa feeding our backyard pool. Because of our plant decorations, our backyard is a tropical setting of "Bird of Paradise" plants, colorful crotons and blazing coleus plants where tiny chameleons scurry around our patio. Since these tiny inquisitive creatures don't stray far from their environment, we could be the first humans they have ever seen. I catch them staring at me all the time. I know, I know, you're not impressed....but I am.

Tomorrow, we'll head out to Trader Joe's, a short distance from our home for wine and roses....and other fun stuff. It's only been two days and Highlands already seems soooooo far away. Maybe we'll hop in our car and take a two minute ride to "Downtown," an incredible conglomerate of restaurants, tony shops, movie theaters, and you name it, it's there. My li'l missus will slip into a shop to buy a new glitzy half price baseball cap to keep the sun from her face. There's even a bar called "Dirty Martini." Come visit and we'll take you there. But even with all this glitz and convenience, I'll miss the folks that make Highlands so special.

Each morning, just as the sun rises; just after my first cup a coffee, I'll log-in and go to a special web site that the Highlands Newspaper provides to take a look at the weather. The cam, just outside the newspaper's window, gives me a good view of Oak Street and the fire department. Some mornings the sun is out and sometimes the street is white with snow. Most mornings the street is wet from rain.

But South Florida can be deceiving. It all looks so wonderful but all that glitters is not gold, as the saying goes. The warm climate also invites all sorts of criminals and scum bags to the area. There are pedophiles living in South Florida neighborhoods but, thank God, all my kids are grown. If interested, go on line and learn about these creeps lurking about in your neighborhood. You just might be unpleasantly surprised.

On a 24/7 basis, my weapon is always seconds away from my reach. Now that the li'l missus and I look older, (she'll deny that) there are criminals who will spot us and look to take advantage of our age. That would be a bad, bad mistake on their part. And yes, I will go to the firing range and waste a few hundred rounds into a paper criminal target just to make sure I can.

So we bid you farewell, Highlanders, stay warm and keep the fires burning until we return. Know that we will truly miss you all.

"Of course, we'd like to raise the entire $700,000 as soon as possible, so we can finish the entire park by next spring. We'd love to be able to have the grand opening for Phase II on May 31."

The first phase of development of the park, consisting of a new performance pavilion, new town restrooms, walkways and street pavers, was completed last spring. Work began on the second part of the park, on land formerly occupied by law offices, last month. Construction is focusing primarily on Founders Square, a new plaza area, and on a small support building that will be used to store equipment and stage various events held on the square. During the winter months, the square will host a new ice rink and the building will serve as a skate rental facility. The ice rink will be operated by the Town of Highlands Recreation Department, with the funding for the rink, equipment and building being provided by Art and Angela Williams, owners of the Old Edwards Group.

"The square occupies only a little more than a third of Phase II of the park, we will still have to complete the historical component honoring the town's founding fathers, a wonderful water feature that will tie the original park and this new phase together, and a lot of landscaping to make the area really green," Bazan said.

With the end of the fiscal year fast approaching, Bazan said he hopes some potential major donors who are considering their tax status will think about making gifts to the park. "Under our agreement with the town, we still have several naming opportunities available for those making major gifts to the park," he added.

Anyone wishing to make a donation toward improving the park should contact Nick Bazan at (828) 371-2653 or e-mail him at nicholas.bazan@gmail.com.

The Friends is composed of representatives of the Highlands Rotary Club, Mountaintop Rotary, the Laurel Garden Club, the Mountain Garden Club, the Highlands-Cashiers Land Trust, the Highlands Plateau Greenway, the Highlands Plateau Audubon Society, the Highlands Historical Society, the Highlands Chamber of Commerce and the Highlands Biological Station.

MC 9-1-1 Communications launches 'Text-to-911'

Macon County 9-1-1 has implemented Text-to-911.

However, Verizon, AT&T, and US Cellular are the only cell phone carriers that are capable of sending texts to 9-1-1 at this time. This includes Straight-talk phones. Text or SMS messaging uses a separate network for communication than voice calls.

In times where the voice network is down, overused, or non-existent, a text message can still possibly get through to the 911-dispatch center.

Macon County hopes this new service will help the deaf and hard-of-hearing residents and visitors as well as anyone who may be on the fringe areas of cell phone coverage where a voice call may not be able to reach the 911-dispatch center.

Text-to-911 will also help serve those who are in a situation where the circumstances are such that calling 911 is not an option.

Macon County 9-1-1 Communications would like for everyone to remember to "Call if you can, only text when you can't."

How to text 9-1-1 in an emergency:

- Enter the numbers "911" in the "To" field;
- The first text message to 9-1-1 should be brief and contain the location of the emergency and the type of help needed;
- Push the "Send" button.
- Be prepared to answer questions and follow instructions from the 9-1-1 call taker.

- Text in simple words – but do not use abbreviations.

- Keep text messages brief and concise.

More about texting to 9-1-1:

- Text location information is sometimes not equal to current location technology.

- As with all text messages, 9-1-1 messages can take longer to receive, can get out of order or may not be received.

- Text-to-911 is not available if you are roaming.

- A text or data plan is required to place a text-to-911

- If texting to 9-1-1 is not available in your area, or is temporarily unavailable, you will receive a message indicating that texting 9-1-1 is not available and to contact 9-1-1 by other means.

- Photos and videos cannot be sent to 9-1-1 at this time.

- Text-to-9-1-1 cannot include more than one person. Do not send your emergency text to anyone other than 9-1-1.

- Do not text and drive!

Citizens are asked not to "test" this service by texting 911 unnecessarily. Texts to 911 require the call taker to stay on that line, thus not allowing the call taker to answer other lines that could be life threatening emergencies.

HCP's 'Over the River and Through the Woods' opens tonight

Tonight is the opening night of Highlands Cashiers Players' second show of the season, "Over the River and Through the Woods" running Oct. 15- Oct. 18 and Oct. 22- Oct. 25 at the Highlands Performing Arts Center.

This is a show about "faith, food and family." It is joyous and poignant and it's about grandparents not wanting to let go of their grandchildren.

Lance Trudel, is the conflicted grandson. He loves his grandparents but opportunity calls and he wants to go.

So starts the hilarious machinations of the grandparents to keep him home. "He didn't say he wants to move. He said he had no reason to stay. So," says Grandmother Emma, "we give him a reason." That reason turns out to be the lovely Caitlin O'Hare, the unmarried niece of Emma's canasta partner.

For tickets call Highlands Cashiers Players Box Office at (828) 526-8084 or purchase them online at highlandscashiersplayers.org. The Highlands Performing Arts Center is located at 507 Chestnut Street.

found the seed remained in the gut of birds for 14-42 days allowing long-distance dispersal.

- Do not plant Oriental bittersweet. Instead, remove plantings including all roots, sprouts and seedlings by manually pulling. Again, bag or burn and don't compost.

- The plant requires vigilance and monitoring. Early detection is key. It is best to pull, cut and treat when fruit is not present.

- Cutting the vines reduces the destructive effects on the trees because the vines will die and eventually fall down in two to three years.

- Property owners should minimize disturbance – clearing even within miles of where the plant occurs. Repeat cutting of the vine to ground level is not effective due to root sprouts. Regular mowing may eventually exhaust the plants energy, however, two or three times a season will only stimulate sprouting. It is eaten by goats, but again, seed spread is possible.

Other ways to manage it include control by foliar spray, cutting stumps and treating them chemically, or with a basal bark herbicide treatment – the use of an herbicide mixed with bark oil that will penetrate the bark.

As with Japanese Knotweed and Kudzu, the herbicides most frequently referenced are glyphosate – Roundup – and triclopyr – Garlon.

A Season and a Property for Every Desired Experience

I stood at the kitchen sink this morning and looked out behind the house toward the woods. Mist and light fog encased the trees; oranges, reds, and yellows still managed to pierce through the white swirls and a few oak leaves dropped slowly in front of the window like boats drifting on invisible waves.

A quick check of the temperature – 49 degrees. I pulled my favorite sweatshirt over my head and laced my shoes for my morning walk. I could smell the dank, luscious air before I opened the door. And once outside, I inhaled greedily, not wanting to miss a wisp of the pine-sharp air.

Even though the hour was early, I passed a few people on my walk. We nodded and smiled at each other in kinship, bonded together in knowing that those who remained in bed were truly missing the magic that is October just after dawn. As I headed into the woods, I began my custom of thinking through the day ahead, setting a strategy for tackling certain real estate projects, and mulling over how to approach a stuck place with my writing. Buoyed by the colors and air of fall, I ducked through caves of rhododendron and felt my brain jump start into creative problem solving and strategic thinking. All the research and reading from the summer was beginning to gel, at last, into coherent strands, paragraphs, and pages. Harvest time.

I am 100% percent in love with autumn in Highlands. It's not only a spectacularly beautiful time of the year, it is also a sumptuous time of both sowing and reaping, starting fresh or anew and wrapping up projects, as well as setting intentions and getting clear on finishing the last quarter of the year strong.

Of course, I could say with complete honesty that I enjoy every season in our mountains. Each of our four, very distinct seasons offers a unique set of experiences (externally and internally). Not only does the landscape change dramatically from summer to autumn and from winter to spring, we change as well. The tone and tenor of the days change as the sunlight takes on a golden hue in the fall and then dims and shortens during the winter. In winter, we draw in, hunker down, and work on longer-term projects that require greater focus than the pace of summer allows. The landscape has a blue hue and a starkness that enables us to see for miles. Clarity that may have eluded us during the crush of summer now confidently knocks upon the door and is a willing partner in innovation. When the first daffodils peek through the snow, we know the chorus of song birds is not far away. Soon, the mountains will erupt into new life, bringing along rejuvenated spirits, longer days, and an eagerness to implement ideas.

Just as seasons afford us the opportunity to enjoy our lives with myriad experiences, so does the fantastic array of properties available for the Highlands-Cashiers investor. For example, if you live to play golf and relish country club living, there are stunning properties inside numerous clubs from which to choose. If you envision yourself walking to town for a morning cup of coffee, a fine meal, or a soulful performance, you can opt to invest in an in-town property that gives you that connection you seek to being in the center of the action. Maybe a soft throw, a glass of wine, and a great book enjoyed on the deck or in front of a fire in a cabin in the woods is your idea of Heaven. Of course, we have a delightful inventory of cabins and cottages that fit the bill.

I can tell you with assurance – regardless of the season – that whatever kind of experience or property you seek, you will find it in these mountains. In both cases, the raw materials of joyful living are available to you in great abundance. When you live in harmony with the seasons and invest in a property that reflects your true self, your life's path will be one of ever unfolding magic and blissful discoveries.

Area non-profits benefit from donations from Mountain Findings

By Trisha Roelke, Secretary

The volunteers at Mountain Findings Thrift Shop continue to aid area non-profits by sharing the proceeds from their resale endeavor. This year 34 entities received $76,000. Smiles abound on the faces of the Mountain Findings volunteers as they present checks to the representatives from many of the recipient organizations.

Since 1969 the generous volunteers of Mountain Findings located at 432 Spruce Street, Highlands have been giving back to the community. During this 40 + years endeavor Mountain Findings has returned more than $ 1.4 million dollars to the community. These donations are possible because of the efforts of 3 key groups-the donors, the volunteers and the ardent shoppers. To each of these individuals we say a hearty THANK YOU.

Everyone at Mountain Findings is a volunteer-giving freely of their time weekly from Memorial Day through the end of October.

This year the following organizations received donations:

Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Cashiers Free Dental Clinic, Community After School Program, Community Care Clinic, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Friends for Life, Glenville-Cashiers Fire Department, Glenville-Cashiers Rescue Squad, HCCDC Scholarship Fund, Highlands Biological Foundation, Highlands Nature Center, Highlands School Booster Club, Highlands Boy Scouts, Highlands Cemetery Fund, Highlands Cub Scouts, Highlands Emergency Council, Highlands Endowment Scholarship Fund, Highlands Fire and Rescue, Highlands Historical Society, Highlands Plateau Greenway, Highlands Playhouse, Highlands-Cashiers Chamber Music, Highlands-Cashiers Community Players, Highlands-Cashiers Humane Society, Highlands-Cashiers Land Trust, Hudson Library, Macon County Humane Society, Performing Arts Center, Performing Arts Center Youth Theater, R.E.A.C.H., Satolah Fire Department, Scaly-Sky Valley Fire Department, Sonshine After School Program, The Pantry, The Literacy Council, and The Mountain Retreat.

Be sure to remember Mountain Findings when you have gently used furniture, home accessories, china, crystal, lighting, and bedding. Pickups are available for larger items. Volunteers are always needed. The store is open Monday through Saturday 10 A.M.-4 p.m. Memorial Day through October 31. See you there.

The universe and nature

Proverbs 3:19-20 "By wisdom the Lord laid the earth's foundations, by understanding he set the heavens in place, by his knowledge the deeps were divided, and the clouds let drop the dew."

By Pastor Sam Forrester
Whiteside Presbyterian Church

We have all observed wisdom, as it is in man, with all of its great promises. Here, in this passage, we see wisdom, as it is in God, being gloriously displayed in his works. You can see his wisdom shown as everlasting because it was before all creatures, and all things, yes, even the entire world was made by it. He tells you, wisdom founded the earth upon nothing and yet, it is impossible for anyone to move it. You see in this the great Architect, God, establishing the heavens, setting all the great lights in their respective orbits.

All of these things declare his wisdom. You see it in the earth, by his dividing the depths, gathering them up and establishing the rivers and streams, so that, man might be refreshed by them. In the heavens, as he collects the moisture for the dew, then letting it rain down its life giving blessing upon man.

So, does not every aspect of the universe glitter in the infinite skill and wisdom of God? The earth is the pavement and the heavens the ceiling of God's handy work, both miracles of wisdom declaring the glory of this great and marvelous God who created you.

As you look out into the heavens, as you examine the earth and its bounty, you can see the two great systems God established. As you observe the uniformity of them, you begin to ever so faintly understand the wisdom of God. This universe is like a parable, its like a great mirror in which is clearly reflected the gospel of Jesus Christ. It is through these wonderful miracles of creation, along with the marvelous provisions of the plan of redemption your heart must be filled with a glorious song of praise and you should join the apostle declaring "O the depth of the riches, both of the wisdom and knowledge of God!" (Romans 11:33).

Recognizing that God created all thing brings you to consider. Proverbs 30:4 "Who has gone up to heaven and come down? Who has gathered up the wind in the hollow of his hands? Who has wrapped up the water in his cloak? Who has established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, and the name of his son? Tell me if you know!" Could this all have been done by just any ordinary man? Could all this have been done with the mere wisdom of a human being? No!

God has established the foundations of this world creating all that it was built on. He came down to lay the first stones and stayed until it was finished. He also came down in the form of his Son. He came to lay another important underpinning. He came to lay the base of his eternal kingdom. Jesus Christ was his name and the only way you can truly know his name is to know that God is the Creator and you a traitor to his cause. Once you see that, you can also see, you need a Savior and to receive that Savior, you must call on his name with a broken and contrite heart and he will hear and save you.

God in Jesus Christ came down to provide for his people salvation. Salvation from a life of sin and death. In II Corinthians 5:17 Paul teaches "If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has gone, and the new has come.” God the Son has created a new heart in you, if you have humbly and sincerely called on him. If you have not called, then today is the acceptable day of salvation, open your heart and humble yourself and call.

Proverbs 26:10, “The great God who formed everything gives the fool his hire and the transgressor his wages.” This clearly says God formed all things. He not only created the universe and nature but all aspects of the nature of all things. He laid out the path of the righteous before the foundations of the earth were laid and he prepared the reward of the fool and administered that reward. God has created the universe and everything in it. He has established its course from start to finish and has laid out the final reward for everything created. Open your heart and believe in him and in the One he sent to save your soul.

Highlands School students to on safari

On October 6, Joy Archer's 6th grade students went on a Plant Safari in the Courtyard Classroom at Highlands School.

Using size, shapes and even scent, students found native plants like Little Joe Pye Weed and Cranesbill Geranium.

They craned their necks skyward to identify non-native Zelkova trees from Japan and crouched low to finger Sedum 'John Creech' from Siberia.

With grit and determination, they excavated rocky soils and planted two large native azaleas donated by Jim Tate of Tate Landscaping.

"This is fun!" Emma said. "We get to get our hands dirty!"

Students also planted 100 tulips and daffodils, common spring-blooming bulbs that are not native to our area. Tulips originated in central Asia and Iran, while many daffodils came from Spain and Portugal.

This is the third year the Mountain Garden Club has sponsored the 6th Grade Plant Safari in the Courtyard Classroom, a vibrant outdoor learning space completed in 2013 thanks to the generous contributions of 16 local and area organizations and many individuals.

Students found native grass.
