A live Christmas tree or a cut tree? That is the question

The town's final budget worksession for the 2016-'17 budget was last Thursday and the budget will be presented at tonight's Town Board meeting.

Most everything discussed and agreed upon at the second budget worksession on May 12 was solidified last Thursday but there was much discussion about the upcoming Christmas festivities in K-H Founders Park and the problem of bears getting into dumpsters – those that are bear proof and those that aren't.

Christmas Tree

Though commissioners agreed to allocate $30,000 for new Christmas decorations and lights – saying the current version of both are awful – it was the $20,000 allocated for a live 30-ft. Christmas tree that caused the most stir.

"The $20,000 is for the tree and that gets it here," said Town Manager Bob Frye. "The rest is for

Teacher John deVille goes to Washington

A dozen civics, history and social studies teachers traveled to Washington, D.C., last week to lobby the U.S. Senate to move forward with the process of appointing Judge Garland to the United States Supreme Court.

President Barack Obama nominated Garland two months ago, but the U.S. Senate has not taken any action on the nomination and all indications are that they won't until a new President is elected. Garland has served on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, the nation's second most important court, for 19 years. He's been the court's chief judge the last three years.

The 12 teachers who were invited to the White House last week included Franklin High School U.S. History Teacher and former Highlander John deVille

Governor's aide outlines his plans for state

Attendees voice concern over 'Bathroom Bill'

By Lane Giddings
Reporter

The Cashiers Area Chamber of Commerce hosted April Riddle, the senior aide to Governor Pat McCrory, on Thursday, May 19, 2016, to give the Governor an opportunity to share his plans for North Carolina regarding the economy, education, roads, and how the Bathroom Bill will affect North Carolina this tourist season.

Economy

April Riddle, in her discussion of North Carolina's financial state, announced that North Carolina is, "the fastest growing economy in the nation."

She spoke of the Governor's creation of 280,000 jobs in North Carolina. North Carolina

About tonight's Town Board agenda

Tonight's Highlands Town Board meeting has a full agenda. As always we will meet at the Conference Center at 7 pm.

The first item on the agenda will be a public hearing for a zoning change to the property next to the Old Helen's Barn. The request is for a new hotel on the site.

A major item will be the presentation of the town budget for FYI 2016/'17. A public hearing for the adoption of the budget will be set for the June board meeting. The proposed budget totals $14.5 million. That figure includes all operations of town government including the enterprise utility funds.

There will be no ad valorem tax increase in the budget, although there are rate increases in water, sewer and sanitation. Water will go up $3 per month and sewer and sanitation will be up $1.50 each. The town has not increased rates on these utilities for several years, yet operating costs have risen. Auditors and regulators require the town to operate these utility services deficit free. Without rate increases these departments fall in the red this coming year.

Highlands Mayor

Also, in water and sewer we are facing major capital expenditures. The new bleach system at the water plant will cost $580,000, and the new screening system for the sewer plant will be $135,000. In addition, we will spend this coming year $102,000 for the design and engineering services for the replacement of the Buck Horn Water tank. The actual construction of the tank is scheduled for the following year and will be around a half million dollars. I know some folks will criticize the increased rates. I believe the town should address these small increases now, rather than delay and face huge increases down the road, like was done several years ago with a 22% electrical rate increase.

Our reserves will remain strong for the coming year with both the general fund reserves and the enterprise reserves at around 30% each. The town has redirected $320,000 in electric reserve funds to expand Altitude Broadband. We take this utility service to the next level of operation in 2017 by expanding the fiber network. This expenditure is a loan that will be repaid.

The board will also review town park policies that have been in draft form for a number of months. The policies will address banners, signage and the use of Founders Park.

US Cellular will present a final draft of its proposed cell tower contract. The tower is to be located next to the fire station. I have received feedback that some believe the town gave US Cellular special consideration by locating on town property. To set the record straight, US Cellular deployed their engineers around town and decided what was the best location for the tower. They made a proposal to build it next to the fire station. The town would have considered proposals by other cell phone providers. US Cellular made the first and only one. They will be investing over $200,000 to locate their equipment on the tower that Highlands will own. It is a winning investment for both US Cellular, and Highlands.

See you tonight.

Lewicki graduates from Cal-Arts with MFA in Theater

On Friday, May 13, Megan Lewicki graduated from California Institute of the Arts in Valencia, CA. Started by Walt Disney and now ranked as America's top college for students in the arts by Newsweek/The Daily Beast, CalArts has set the pace for educating professional artists since 1970. It offers rigorous undergraduate and graduate degree programs through six schools—Art, Critical Studies, Dance, Film/Video, Music, and Theater. CalArts has championed creative excellence, critical reflection, and the development of new forms and expressions. Basically if students can think it, the faculty and alumni will help them achieve it.

The graduation took place outside on the lawn of the university where parents and friends enjoyed picnics and live music performed by the students. Each graduate was given nine seconds to cross the stage in costumes and to music of their choosing – Megan chose the opening refrain of Game of Thrones and wore a gown with a crown of flowers in her hair. She was picked up by a management company and is pursuing her acting, writing and producing career.

Actor Don Cheadle, who graduated from CalArts in 1986, was the keynote speaker.

• THE FREDSTER •

I'm baaaacccccckkk!

Dear Fredster:

I am a loyal "Fredster" fan and was wondering if you are going to have a column this season. I would also like your opinion on President Obama's transgender ruling imposed on the United States, particularly North Carolina. Please reply.

Yours truly,
Iva Wantmore

Fred Wooldridge

you're feeling feminine at the time of your need. Does this mean everyone will need a birth certificate on them at all times? How about federal bathroom police? Is that in the mix? If so I want to apply. Fun, fun, fun as I love bathroom humor. Is our president great or what?

Sooooo, as I approached the public restroom on Main Street I looked around for the bathroom police. Not spotting any, I entered the ladies room and, POW, ran right smack dab into the most gorgeous smoking hot babe. She looked a little like Donald Trump's current wife. We stared at each other for over a minute. Then she said, "I used to be a man but got a sex change. How 'bout you?"

"Nah, not me," I replied, "I was born a guy with over the top testosterone but was feeling girlish when I entered."

"Well, I suggest you get the hell out before I call the bathroom police," she said.

As I dashed for the exit I bumped into another gentleman (I think) who was just walking in. He blurted, "Just in case you're the bathroom police, I was born a girl and can prove it with this birth certificate."

Frustrated with all of this, I decided to return to my old habits and start wearing Depends again.

PS: I made this up.

Dear Iva:

My column will be different this season. Strap yourself in and hang on tight. I'll vary it with the following stuff, remembering that satire is and always has been my main gig. I'm going to throw in some old columns and yes, answer fans' questions from time to time. Police stories will also be in the mix as will political satire. I'm feeling pretty out of control this season and may get fired before the season ends in November. Standby because you're gonna want more, no pun intended!

Believe it or not I was elated when I learned that our beloved Attorney General gave her opinion on North Carolina public restroom laws. I'm certain this will bring out the more feminine side of me. Actually I'm feeling very girlish as I write.

As of this week, here's how the rule works. You must use the bathroom of the sex on your birth certificate unless is also projected to reduce taxes by 4.4 billion dollars. This reduction has moved North Carolina's business tax climate from 44th in the nation to 15th in the nation. North Carolina's income tax is set at 5.499%. This is lower than both Georgia and South Carolina.

McCrory also plans to set up new programs that will allow veterans to be trained for the work force, to decrease the amount of unemployed veterans in North Carolina.

Bathroom Bill

The Question and Comment portion of the event was dominated by concern over the HB2 dubbed "The Bathroom Bill." This bill has created numerous boycotts of North Carolina products and events which has affected the tourist industry in the state.

The audience expressed concerns saying losses are expected to be large during the upcoming tourist season.

Jack Austin, general manager of Old Edwards Hospitality Group, which has made Highlands a wedding destination over the last decade, expressed concern about the potential loss of revenue to the local economy.

"We welcome all weddings, even same sex weddings and with this bill we could easily lose that business which would be a loss to us but would mean a loss of tens of thousands of dollars to the local economy. This isn't just about losing a Bruce Springsteen concert in Greenville, it's about a local merchant or restaurateur losing, too. The economic impact is not good. We don't want to discourage any kind of wedding."

Austin went on to say that regardless of how individuals might feel, the people who are visiting this part of the state – Highlands and Cashiers -- feel differently.

"They come from big cities, they're a younger clientele, and they've got more progressive attitudes."

HB2 passed within 12 hours of being filed and, was, in Austin's opinion, "not well thought out," he said.

Some members of the audience actually said Governor McCrory ought to repeal the bill and apologize.

Education

While there has been some controversy over Governor McCrory's stance on education, Riddle discussed what the Governor hopes to improve – for one, McCrory plans to raise the average teacher salary to $55,000.

Linda Quick, board member of Summit Charter School, immediately disputed this statement declaring that as a result of the small budget granted by the state, the school is forced "to go back to the community and raise the money so that we can keep the Governor's promise," she said.

While Riddle had no response to this concern, she did announce that there has been a 50% increase in charter school enrollment — likely due to the huge increase in charter and private school vouchers.

Riddle then discussed how North Carolina's education is improving. The Fourth Grade reading scores are increasing, which the Governor feels is helping contribute to the increase in graduation rate, which is now at 85%.

According to Riddle, the Governor has also invested 980 million dollars in the advancement of North Carolina's university system. There will also be an opening of a new branch of Western North Carolina University's School of Science and Math in the old Broughton Hospital building in order to make the campus more available to students who live in remote areas.

Friday Forays with the Highlands Biological Foundation

Venture off the beaten path for a few hours and explore the biological diversity of the Highlands Plateau with the Highlands Biological Foundation. On Friday, June 3rd, we will be heading out with fern expert Tom Goforth to learn more about the wide diversity of fern species native to Highlands, from identification to habitat requirements to the basics of propagation. Ferns and friends will be from 10am to 2pm and cost $15 for members and $35 for non-members.

On June 10th we will be hiking to Whiterock along one of the most beautiful sections of the Bartram Trail, one packed with stunning wildflowers, endless vistas, and a fascinating geologic history. This hike will also be from 10am-2pm and $15 for members, $35 for non-members.

Right now we are enjoying the cool, but (mostly) sunny weather of spring, but towards the end of June, temperatures begin to rise, especially when you travel further down the plateau. Want the perfect way to stay cool and learn more about the history of the Cherokee and the Bartram trail? Float down the Little Tennessee river with your friends from the Highlands Biological Station on June 17th from 10am-2pm. Kayaks and canoes will be available, along with instruction from an experienced guide. This foray will cost $40 for members and $50 for non-members.

These trips are all hands-on, interactive experiences that are best enjoyed with close-toed shoes and clothes that are okay to get dirty. Please be sure to bring a bag lunch and water. For more information, visit www.highlandsbiological.org/forays/.

2nd weekend for HCP's comedy/mystery 'The Game's Afoot'

Sherlock Holmes has fascinated mystery lovers ever since Sir Arthur Conan Doyle came up with the character in the late 1900s. And now in the 21st century Sherlock is still around and in the Highlands Cashiers Players' (HCP) production of The Game's Afoot, now in its second week at Highlands Performing Arts Center. This comedy mystery, written by master playwright Ken Ludwig, won the Edgar Award for Best Mystery Play in 2012

An actual person is featured in the play, William Gillette, famous actor of yesteryear, who created the stage persona of Sherlock Holmes with deer stalker cap and curved pipe and played the role for 30 years! Set in 1936, the action begins when Gillette's actor friends arrive at his mansion to celebrate Christmas Eve, but the festivities come to a halt when one of the guests is murdered. Like his stage character Sherlock Holmes, Gillette attempts to solve the crime with many hilarious situations and laughs for the audience along the way.

The Game's Afoot, directed by Michael Lanzilotta with a cast of accomplished actors, is on stage at Highlands Performing Arts Center, 507 Chestnut Street, Thursday, May 26, through Sunday, May 29, evenings at 7:30 p.m., Sunday matinees at 2:30. Tickets are ($23.50). Call 526-8084 and leave a message for a call-back if operator is not able to answer right away. Tickets are also available on line, highlandscashiersplayers.org.

Be ready to sell and use a REALTOR

Jody Lovell is allowing me to hijack her article this week so I can tell you that, as president of the Highlands-Cashiers Board of REALTORS®, I was privileged to attend the National Association of REALTORS® Mid-Year Legislative Meetings in Washington, DC earlier this month to represent the Highlands-Cashiers area.

The most amazing thing I discovered is that REALTORS®, no matter where they are from, are more alike than different. We face the same challenges; enjoy the same victories when we find just the right property for our clients and work hard each and every day to ensure our clients understand the CURRENT real estate market in their area. REALTORS® are the Voice of Real Estate.

You may be hearing that there is an inventory shortage if you are listening to the news. That is not the case in the Highlands-Cashiers area. It is still very much a Buyers' Market here. In fact, we really have too much inventory. We would like to offer some advice to our sellers in preparation for the coming season to help them get ready to SELL.

It all comes down to three things: price, location and condition. It is critical to price your home based on current sales information. It doesn't matter how much you paid for it. It doesn't matter how much you have put into it, how much you have to get out of it or how much your neighbor thinks it should sell for!

Be sure your REALTOR® gives you at least three solid comparable properties from the past 6-12 months as close to yours as possible. It isn't always easy to do this, but I can't stress enough how important it is to be IN or even ahead of the CURRENT market. It doesn't matter what it might have sold for a few years ago.

Second, location; if you have a home on the plateau, you have it covered!

The third factor is condition. If you want top dollar, your home MUST be in top condition. Does it need to be painted? Are there any repairs to be made? How does the yard look? Does it need landscaping? Does your home need to be staged? Do we need to tuck away all those family photos so that the buyer can see themselves as the owner?

Consult your REALTOR® to find out what he or she thinks is the best approach to get your home in top condition for selling. They do know what's best and what will work, so you are ready to accept that offer without having to do these things after you get it and can sell quickly.

If you are selling this season, I hope you will find these tips helpful. Happy Selling!! Don't forget to use a REALTOR®!

and the group shared the same sentiment – that it's hard to teach students the procedures and roles of government when the Senators are currently ignoring their responsibilities.

DeVile and the other educators attended a mock hearing held by Democrats on the Senate Judiciary Committee to demonstrate the importance of having the full complement of nine justices on the Supreme Court.

"Most striking to me was the testimony of Judge Timothy Lewis. He made a point of informing the committee that even though he had had strong disagreements with Judge, and now Justice Samuel Alito, that he, Lewis, had testified on his behalf during his confirmation hearings because he deserved to be confirmed because (a) that was President Bush's choice and (b) he was eminently qualified," said DeVile.

The educators also met with President Obama's senior adviser Valerie Jarrett at the White House.

"It's not only about Judge Garland," Jarrett said. "It's about the future of our country and making sure our students have a system they can trust and eventually lead. Your coming here, speaking out and being engaged gives your students a role model to whom they can aspire. That's important at a time when so many people have become disillusioned with our government."

Jarrett asked the group for specific examples of ways the situation with Judge Garland has impacted what they have taught in the classroom.

DeVile said that just last Monday he taught a lesson on the issue and asked his students to develop pros and cons for both having the hearings and delaying the hearings. He said in the three classes he taught the lesson, all students developed both advantages and disadvantages to delaying the hearings but overall, the students agreed that politics should be kept out of the decision and the hearings should be held for Judge Garland.

Jarrett encouraged the group of educators to use the current situation with the U.S. Supreme Court appointments as a teachable moment for students and said to use it as a way to encourage them to get involved in the process.

the decorations and lighting.”

Commissioner John Dotson contested the allocation saying “We could buy one for $5,000 every year.”

He pointed out that there were lots of trees at Christmas tree farms that are too big to sell which the owners would probably like to get rid of.

“I know they are waiting for the White House to call but that’s just not going to happen,” he said.

But a live tree has long been in the plans for K-H Founders Park and Commissioner Brian Stiehler said though he agreed allocating $20,000 for a tree was a lot of money, he would like a live tree.

He said a live tree would mean a 90-inch root ball and he was sure that he could find one here in Highlands, one a property owner might like to get rid of, especially if his or her name was associated with the tree in the park.

Mayor Pat Taylor reminded the board that erecting a cut tree each year would mean constructing a concrete pad and involve guy wires – probably not the look or feel the Founders Park Coalition was thinking of when it planned a Christmas tree for the park.

For budgeting purpose the $50,000 was left in the Rec Park budget for 2016-’17 but it could change.

Dumpsters

For a few years now, the town has allocated $30,000 a year to replace old, rusted and weak dumpsters with bear proof dumpsters and bear proof lids.

The trouble is they don’t always keep bears out. Why? Because of people said Mayor Taylor.

“We are getting a lot of complaints about garbage in the streets so maybe we need to consider a punitive approach,” he said.

According to Town Manager Frye, the problem is the dumpsters aren’t being secured properly. “They’re not being used correctly,” he said. “By not doing anything about it we are rewarding inappropriate behavior. We can put bear proof lids on every dumpster in town, but if they aren’t being used properly then they won’t work.”

Nothing monetarily was decided upon concerning dumpsters and their use, but the issue isn’t dead.

Utility Increases

Commissioners also discussed the increase in the minimum charge for water, sewer and garbage pickup.

All three are enterprise funds, which means they are supposed to be self-sustaining with all expenses paid for with each respective fund. That hasn’t been the case – capital expenses have been typically paid out of the General Fund Balance or the Electric Fund Balance.

The minimum monthly charge for water will go up $3 from $32 a month to $35; sewer will go up $1.50 from $32 to $33.50; and garbage pick-up will go up $1.50 from $18.50 to $20 per month. This will put the funds, which are currently in the red in the black, but just barely.

Commissioner Amy Patterson wondered if the increase was enough given that the funds are supposed to be self-sustainable and oil, fuel and tipping prices at the dump are likely to increase at some point.

“Instead of dribble drabs each year, should we consider more? We’ll be ahead for now, but for how long – the departments are supposed to pay for themselves,” she said.

But Commissioner Dotson said he preferred assessing financial needs in the enterprise departments each year. “This shows taxpayers we are reassessing each year and not just taking the money,” he said.

Balancing the Budget

Budget expenditures for 2016-’17 are more than revenues even though scores of items didn’t make the final budget. Expenditures are estimated to be $14,520,640 and to-

Highlands Central Baptist Church

I am writing this article from scratch. I don't have an outline. I don't know exactly where I'm going. I'm not sure where I will wind up. I haven't thought it through...but the above phrase somewhat haunts me. It bothers me. Ironically however, and nonetheless, I resonate with it. It connects. I think I understand it. I think I identify. Don't you? Haven't you been there? A stormy, troubled heart? And yet to whom do you go?

Of course, the right answer is "the Christian." But, oh how often we Christians are loathe to listen! Have you ever thought about it? That is, one of the reasons we love the Lord Jesus is because He listens. Furthermore, He listens honestly. It's not enough to speak honestly. One must learn to hear honestly. And honestly, not every Christian has it all together. Not every Christian lives in victory. Not every Christian knows the Bible. And much of the time they would like to tell that to other Christians in hopes of gaining insight and help. It's even possible that sometimes a storm-tossed Christian may find a better hearing from someone in a bar than from someone in a church. Long time "Churchers" tend to respond with "come up to where I am" rather than getting down to where others are. Life is not tidy for some Christians. All the ends are not neatly tucked in. Their lives are one of storms and trouble.

How then do they receive a chance to be heard?

1) By those people who read the Bible. There we find murderers, adulterers, persecutors...and more all being sought and used by God. The Bible is in color...not black and white!

2) By those who are honest with themselves. Even spirit filled Christians struggle. Ignoring the struggle doesn't eliminate it. Jesus helps those who are honest. I don't know how He can help those who aren't. 3) By those who ask the Father to give them a heart like His. That will do it. I promise. Jesus sees all and is surprised by none. His heart is tender and great. He will always listen. He always keeps the big picture in mind. He always remembers our frame that we are like dust. He always treats us with grace. That's the ideal!

Every church I know of has people with stormy, troubled hearts. You can help calm the waters. Slow down. Listen between the lines. Be a healer. Be available to Jesus. Through you He will always listen.

tal revenues are expected to be $13,387,536 which leaves a deficit of $1,113,104.

Since by law the budget has to balance, $37,980 will be allocated from the General Fund Balance which leaves it with $2 million and $200,000 will be allocated from the Water Fund. In addition, $875,124 will come from the Electric Fund. That will leave the Electrical Reserve Fund with $2.2 million.

Despite the subtraction of funds, the town's Fund Balance is at a healthy 30%.

After its presentation tonight, a public hearing will be set for the June 18 Town Board meeting prior to adoption. The new fiscal year begins July 1.

Methamphetamine trafficker sentenced to 12.5 years in prison

ASHEVILLE, N.C. — Joel Elias Gonzalez, 53, formerly of Franklin, N.C. was sentenced yesterday to 151 months in prison followed by five years of supervised release for trafficking large quantities of crystal methamphetamine, announced Jill Westmoreland Rose, U.S. Attorney for the Western District of North Carolina. Gonzalez pleaded guilty in February 2016 to one count of distribution of methamphetamine.

U.S. Attorney Rose is joined in making today's announcement by Daniel R. Salter, Special Agent in Charge of the Atlanta Field Division of the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), which oversees the Charlotte District Office; C.J. Hyman, Special Agent in Charge of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF), Charlotte Field Division; Sheriff Robert L. Holland of the Macon County Sheriff's Office; and Sheriff Chip Hall of the Jackson County Sheriff's Office.

According to filed court documents and statements made in court, from in or about June of 2015, Gonzalez was responsible for trafficking large amounts of crystal methamphetamine (crystal meth) in the Franklin, N.C. area and the Rabun County, Georgia area. Court records indicate that Gonzalez purchased the crystal meth from a source of supply in and around Atlanta, Georgia. According to court records, Gonzalez was responsible for trafficking approximately 1.3 kilograms of crystal meth.

Gonzalez is in federal custody and will be transferred to custody of the Bureau of Prisons upon designation of a federal facility. Federal sentences are served without the possibility of parole. In making today's announcement, U.S. Attorney Rose noted that multiple agencies worked together to bring this prolific crystal methamphetamine trafficker to justice and thanked the DEA, the ATF, the Macon County Sheriff's Office, the Jackson County Sheriff's Office for investigating this case.

Assistant United States Attorney Thomas Kent of the U.S. Attorney's Office in Asheville handled the prosecution.

Butterflies are free

Butterflies are important to our eco system, and if the Mountain Garden Club has anything to do with it, there will be plenty of butterflies to go around.

The Monarch butterfly (in the caterpillar stage) only eats from the Milkweed plant (available at Saturday's plant sale), then the adult butterflies dine on dahlias, lobelias, Joe Pye weed, lupines, and other plants which can be found at Saturday's plant sale. It's a win, win, win situation, and all you have to do is come, buy and plant.

Although the plant sale is famous for their lush hostas, ferns, butterfly loving plants, etc., also available are vicious trowels and shovels, dahlia tubers and plants with expert advice, fairy garden plants, and note cards with nature images captured by club members.

Garden club members will be on board to help you choose, the Hummers from Highlands school will be on hand, as well as our scholarship students.

The 34th annual Mountain Garden Club plant sale, at the corner of Hickory and Hwy.64 East (Cashiers Road) on the ball field begins precisely at 9 am and ends at noon. Proceeds benefit local college bound students, Eckerd Living Center gardens, Highlands School butterfly garden club and Hummers group, as well as other civic organizations. You'll be glad you came.

said that, "efficiency is something very close to the Governor's heart" and in that regard noted North Carolina's Department of Motor Vehicles' improvement: specifically, the ability to access the DMV online.

Another advancement in transportation would be a merit system the Governor plans to use in order to decide which areas receive new roads. This system will allow the roads that need the most improvement to be repaired, as opposed to, "the areas with the most political power having the best roads," she said.

Attendees did express concern about the lack of snow removal on secondary roads. This creates dangerous conditions for commuters and school buses, they said. Riddle said she would convey concerns about clearing the secondary roads to the Governor.

Riddle said the Governor plans to also make bridge safety a priority, especially in Western North Carolina. Currently, Bonner Bridge is seeing the effects of this push, because it is currently being renovated.

Riddle intends to take the comments made by the community back to Governor McCrory for consideration. He is seeking re-election this November.

Because Maturity is a State of Mind Not a Skin Condition We Offer 3 Options: MicroCurrent • MicroPhototherapy • Celluma Panel

MicroCurrent

Microcurrent aids in reducing the signs of aging by utilizing a low level of electricity that mimics our own body's biological current.

These tiny microcurrent impulses trigger chemical reactions at a cellular level to enhance the production of natural collagen and elastin, provide circulatory benefits, and work directly on the nerves and muscle fibers. The result is visible firming and smoothing of the skin. It also helps tone facial muscles.

Although you will notice the treatment's tightening effects immediately, the more significant improvement will occur gradually over a period of several weeks as the new collagen forms.

Located behind
Highlands Decorating Center
on NC 106 (the Dillard Rd)

MicroPhototherapy

With the healing power of light and heat energy this treatment works deep beneath the surface of the skin to give a younger healthier looking appearance. Soothing pulses of heat work with light to lessen sun spots, even out skin tone and smooth the texture of your skin with virtually no down time or discomfort.

Celluma Panel's phototherapy device, uses wavelengths of light produced by light emitting diodes (LEDs) to treat multiple conditions – Anti-aging and Acne.

Anti-aging

The phototherapy device, reduces the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, while improving skin texture, quality and smoothness. Using wavelengths that are scientifically proven to stimulate fibroblasts to increase collagen and elastin, Celluma's low-level light therapy is a safe, effective and convenient way to achieve a healthy, youthful glow in a natural, non-toxic, non-invasive manner.

Acne

Deeply penetrating wavelengths kill the bacteria that causes breakouts, while reducing the inflammation, pimples and redness associated with acne. A reduction in lesions and overall improvement in skin appearance is often seen in a matter of weeks.

Rotarians hear about PAC's 2016 season

At the May 17th Rotary Club of Highlands meeting, Mary Adair Leslie reviewed the history and mission of the PAC, as it is commonly known, and gave highlights of the 2016 season. The PAC was incorporated as a 501c3 not-for-profit in 1999. Its mission is to provide the Highlands Community with a first-class, low cost, state of the art facility for nonprofit organizations within the community to use as a venue for the performing arts. The PAC has two resident organizations: the Highlands-Cashiers Chamber Music Festival and the Highlands Cashiers Players. Each entity has its own board of directors and they fundraise separately.

The PAC has a membership program and presents a series of performances in the "shoulder" months when other groups are not using the theater. In 2016, the PAC will present Retro Rock singer Travis LeDoyt – The Young Elvis -- on June 17 & 18; Mentalist Guy Bavli on June 25; Bluegrass Band Balsam Range on September 17; the Comedy Group Capital Steps, September 24; The Phat (Phantom) Pack GALA (a performance by three Broadway stars all of whom have performed in Phantom of the Opera followed by a gala dinner at Highlands Falls Country Club) on October 1; 10 time International Bluegrass Music Association's Fiddle Performer of the Year Michael Cleveland and The Flamekeeper on October 29 and Retro Rock group The Drifters on November 25.

Additionally, the PAC hosts the PAC Youth Theatre Group, and presents live feeds from the Metropolitan Opera, the National Theatre of London and the Bolshoi Ballet during the winter months.
