Painted rock offers 'encouragement' to Highlands School students on the first day of school

Painted rocks have made their way to Highlands, spreading joy and excitement into the community. See if you can find one hidden in plain sight at Highlands School meant to bring a smile and offer encouragement on the first day of school.

For months, rocks painted with acrylic have been popping up in little libraries, on park benches and outside shopping centers throughout Western North Carolina. Children and adults have joined in on the activity, which is part of the Kindness Rocks Project, a movement that got its start on the East Coast two years ago and has now spread across the

Planning B. discusses the art of planning

Monday night Town Planner Andrew Bowen held a Planning Board workshop to start a conversation about the medium-to long-term planning needs of Highlands.

Acting as facilitator and not just town employee, Bowen brought fresh ideas and a deep understanding of small town planning to the table while stressing the importance of having a comprehensive plan in place.

"Highlands is blessed with a great town and it's not threatened but if you don't have an actual plan in place you can't complain about what has happened in 20 years," he said.

He said the ideals for the

Dogs can be nicer than people

Dear Editor,

Referring to the letter "Pet Peeve" in the Aug. 24 edition. What an unhappy, hateful and miserable person Milton Ready must be.

I feel sad for him having to live in and tolerate a world with so many people that think and feel differently than he.

The more people like him that I come across, the more I like my dogs.

Pam Smith

Dogs are much more than pets

Dear Editor,

In response to the letter entitled "Pet Peeve" in the Aug. 24 edition:

Mr. Ready, Of course you are right. Some pet owners are irresponsible. Most are not. I leave K-H Park as I find it. Every Saturday at the market, my dog and I join other vendors in welcoming pets and their owners. Accidental droppings? I've seen a few. Nothing to complain about.

What's churning at Town Hall right now

The last week in the month is a time when I review actions of the previous Thursday's Town Board meeting. In addition to recording a radio show and writing a column, I also make a presentation at the Community Coffee the 4th Friday morning of each month at The Hudson Library.

At this past coffee, I covered four topics, coal ash, Mission/Blue Cross, broadband, and recycling. Let me provide a summary of what I said concerning these issues.

First, the Duke request to charge customers for coal ash recovery costs is not final. The NC Utilities Commission will make a final decision on how much Duke can charge customers in the coming months. In the meantime, Duke can begin collecting past charges now. We will have to pass to our customers fees for 2015, 2016, and 2017 beginning in 2018.

It is funny how corporations spin controversial issues. Duke Energy is running a TV ad with pictures of new transmission lines, solar panel fields and a truck being loaded with coal ash. The announcer notes that Duke is recycling coal ash, which in fact they are. One way to look at it is that customers will help fund their recycling efforts. Duke's stockholders will not share in the coal ash recovery costs, only the consumers.

The Mission and Blue Cross controversy is similar. The customers will ultimately carry the cost of any resolution, while NC Blue Cross stockholders will probably enjoy strong returns like they did last year. Our Town Manager has been communicating with our insurance broker concerning options for town employees currently on Blue Cross. We both met with representatives from Mission this past week. I came away from the meeting with the sober realization that the current contract between Blue Cross and Mission will very likely expire on October 5.

While Blue Cross will continue to fully cover emergency services, Blue Cross policy holders will be treated as being out-of-network for primary healthcare claims at Mission facilities, including our hospital. I expect negotiations to resume after October 5, but in the meantime, we will continue to explore better options for our employees. From this controversy, the town may be able to provide the same level of care for employees at lower costs.

Another issue I addressed was the status of broadband. The staff is in extensive discussions with several private providers concerning partnership proposals. The town is advocating several major components. We want a rapid network buildout that covers the entire town with no, or minimum, exposure to the taxpayers. A few months ago, these two issues were in doubt, but now I see them as very

Are you a pet owner? Based on your letter, I suspect not. You are missing a lot. You'll never know until you become one.

My current dog is my joy, another one is my grief. To help you understand the bond between dogs and people, I'll share my thoughts from a painful day 42 months ago.

For more than eight years, I have enthusiastically embraced my mission to share images of God's creation. In 2014, my 6-year-old partner was a 30-pound whippet-mix named Sheba. Over time, her name changed to She Bear, then Bear. Together, we hiked hundreds of miles, to waterfalls, mountains and into unfamiliar forests.

I built a website to share the fruits of our adventures. Many pictures in my galleries were taken with Bear at my side. When I removed my camera from its bag, Bear seemed to sense the need to be still. With my eye looking at the scene, a leash in hand, there was seldom any camera shake from her movement. It seemed so natural, I took it for granted.

Hundreds of times, we repeated the process, gathering images, videos to put online for everyone to enjoy. I never thought it would end. But it did.

Bear was at her peak: muscular, energetic and so alert. We made our last visit to Dry Falls. As was our habit, we shared a Snickers candy bar and a slice of pound cake. About an hour after getting home, Bear was gone.

A call the next day led my wife and I about 70 miles to Anderson, SC where Bear had been euthanized. The circumstances still aren't clear.

Before I buried Bear outside our home, I cradled her body just as I did when she was alive. Wrapped in plastic by the vet, I held her for a few minutes, prayed and told her how much I loved her. Then, loneliness and sadness that only ended when I adopted my current best friend.

I share this to help you understand why dogs are so much more than pets. They're family.

The eclipse?

I'm blaming my rambling on the eclipse. On August 21, entire swaths of the nation were caught up in eclipse fever, and Georgia and the Carolinas were part of the mania.

Did you have friends who traveled for the viewing? One Atlanta couple texted us Monday that they had stopped far short of their preferred destination after going 51 miles in two hours, so I was just as happy that the Clampetts, as my husband refers to us, shared our one pair of eclipse glasses and watched the phenomenon from our driveway.

If an eclipse can cause large parts of the population to take leave of their senses and sit in traffic for hours on end, perhaps it can cause my brain to hopscotch around. The idea of writing about music was triggered when I heard mention of Bonnie Tyler. I'd read she'd be singing "Total Eclipse of the Heart" at some point during the eclipse, but it didn't sink in until a local pop station snarkily said, "Bonnie Tyler will be culturally relevant again for the first time in thirty years." Can it have been that long?

I heard that comment right after enjoying a new song. Yes, me, a new song. I've since discovered it was "Something Just Like This," but as is typical for me, I couldn't catch all the lyrics as I was driving down the road. What first caught my attention was the mention of Achilles and Hercules, and those names made me think of the Crash Test Dummies hit from the 90s, "Superman's Song." From there, my mind jumped to "I'm Not Crazy; I'm Just a Little Unwell." And voila, I'd moved into the current century.

After sharing my music tastes a few weeks back in my newspaper column, I felt compelled to alert the media, or at least my readers, that I do listen to newer music on occasion. I only listen to the radio when I'm in the car running errands, so I don't hear new music often.

I'm also a button puncher and move between NPR and several music stations. That's how I heard "Something Just Like This." Via button punching, I stumble across both old and new songs that resonate with me.

Last year I sang along to "Just Give Me a Reason" by Pink. Google tells me it came out in 2012, though it seemed to be on every station in 2016. The male artist on the song sounded familiar, and it turns out he's Nate Ruess of the band Fun. Fun's hits are just plain catchy: "Some Nights," "Carry On," and "We Are Young." Are my music tastes sounding a tad more modern yet?

I hear a good mix of old-time rock 'n roll along with newer artists like Adele, Coldplay, Taylor Swift, Bruno Mars, Meckan Trainor, and even Justin Bieber. I was surprised I liked "My Mama Don't Like You" since it's a Justin Bieber song, and I'm predisposed to dislike him. Meckan Trainor's "All About That Bass," is also among my newer favorites. I consider a 2015 song new, don't you?

Phew! I feel as though I've been punching buttons in my brain just as I do on my car radio, and I'm amazed I was able to trace all the leaps back to the beginning—Bonnie Tyler. To be honest, I can't blame my rambling thoughts on the eclipse; my brain works this way all the time.

Many towns or regions have their own Facebook groups, where members often share rock photos and uplifting stories. In Franklin, the "Franklin NC Rocks" group has so far attracted more than 800 members. A larger Facebook group that has been operating longer than Franklin's, WNC Rocks, has more than 8,300 members and has members who post photos and stories of rocks painted and found all over Western North Carolina.

The group also features pictures posted of rocks that have been hidden in areas such as Highlands that are from visitors as far away as Florida. While the rocks feature a painted picture or message on one side, on the backside, the name of the group the rock came from is written, such as "Highlands NC Rocks" or "Ocala Florida Rocks," so participants can watch the rocks travel with those who find them!

The Highlands NC Rocks

Can you find the rock at Highlands School?

Facebook group is just getting started and was created by Sharon Mattocks Elder in June. The group has grown to 81 members and shows rocks hidden in and around Highlands.

A couple from Union South Carolina, Jamey and Deborah Metz, posted a photo of a rock they found in front of Kilwins Ice Cream Shop to the group and said they would be taking the rock back with them to South Carolina at the end of their vacation.

Martha Holbrook, who owns two shops along Franklin's Main Street brought the idea to Franklin and set up the Facebook group to help spread the message. The Facebook group explains that the group is family-oriented and community-building based, and encourages parents to get outside with their children and explore the community searching for the painted rocks.

To help build community support, Franklin's Main Street merchants have hosted monthly rock painting parties on the town square where all rocks and painting supplies are provided for the community. The events have led to hundreds of rocks being painted and spread throughout Macon County. Main Street merchants purchase all the supplies needed for the rocks to be painted. The next Free Rock Painting party is scheduled for September 23 on Main Street in Franklin. Details will be posted on the Franklin NC Rocks Fb page.

A painted rock may seem silly to some, but the small, simple gesture has the power to make all the difference for someone else.

• THANK YOU •

Hospital team is the best

I want to express my heartiest thanks to the Highlands hospital emergency staff, especially to Dr. Meade and to the RN Elizabeth.

After 2 weeks of excruciating pain and undergoing numerous tests, where "nothing" was diagnosed as to the cause, I wound up making a trip to the hospital on Saturday when the pain became unbearable.

Thanks to Dr. Meade, the nurse and Mission Hospital's consulting team, the proper tests were administered and they found the cause of my debilitating pain in a matter of hours!!

I was released feeling like a new man

Stranded motorist rescued by Good Samaritan

On Tuesday the 22nd, at lunch time in a very busy parking lot at a local large grocery store, my car battery failed to function.

In other words, I just heard the clicking sound and the starter attempting to no avail to rotate the engine.

As I struggled to connect jumper cables, Mr. David Hensley interrupted his lunch and succeeded in getting engine running.

I drove to the stop sign at Highway 28 and stopped.

My car took exception to this behavior and the engine quit again.

And again, Mr. Hensley to the rescue.

By hand, he pushed my car backwards against traffic going out of the parking lot.

And again with the jumper cables, he got the engine running.

This time, a more brief stop at the sign and I was on my way.

The next trip for this car is to an auto parts store, where it will be the recipient of a new battery.

I say "Thank you Mr. Hensley, your kind assistance is much appreciated!"

From the Beck family

The family of Gilbert Beck would like to express their appreciation to all friends and family who honored him in his passing. We would like to especially thank Four Seasons Hospice for their wonderful care and support.

that he failed to identify the cause of such unsavory conduct which, obviously, lands squarely on the curiously coiffured head of Donald Trump, just as Kim Bonsteel's letter of June 1st to the newspaper attributed the increasingly rude and reprehensive driving habits of people in our mountains to the "Trump Doctrine," which he described as, quote, "I did it, I'm glad, screw you."

So, the Donald, besides being a racist, a bigot, a homophobe, a xenophobe, a megalomaniac, a twitter maniac, a misogynist, a chauvinist, a sexual predator, an anti-Semite, an anti-immigrant, an anti-environmentalist, climate change denier and Paris Accords nullifier, a white supremacist, a closet neo-nazi, a KKK sympathizer, an unapologetic capitalist, a Confederate monument defender, an islamaphobe, a trans-gender oppressor, an NRA advocate, a media provocateur, a tax code manipulator, an anti-socialist, an anti-bureaucrat, a sanctuary city challenger, and basically just your all-around political hack, mental moron, deranged disrupter and mediocre golfer, can now add to this ever-expanding list of politically incorrect positions that of promoter of obnoxious canine behavior as well as promoter of rude and aggressive drivers.

Talk about a basket of deplorables, wow! What's next? Stay tuned.

perfect escape are changing. Millennials, those born between 1980 and 1993 who represent the largest segment of the population in America, don't want what their grandparents wanted. They don't want a huge house in a subdivision in the middle of nowhere. They want smaller homes, close to the core of the place they are drawn to. They want pedestrian avenues, greenways, bike paths, and stellar telecommunication options.

He said with stellar telecommunication options a rural mountain town can attract a full-time, educated group.

Interestingly, he said studies show that the Baby Boomer and the Millennium generations "sync up better than any other generations."

"Generally speaking, they both want a connection to the core of an area. They are seeking a simpler way of life in a beautiful place that is well put together. That is what the data is showing," he said.

What does that mean for Highlands?

He said it means a Town

Board committed to a capital plan that coincides with a comprehensive plan to create and maintain a quality of life for citizens and visitors. That includes infrastructure, parks and recreation and a vision for the community that includes short- and long-term planning initiatives that fit into an agreed upon plan for Highlands as it considers the type of person who will be seeking a life here in the near and far future.

He was quick to say a comprehensive plan isn't anti-development; instead it presents a clear plan of what development is and where it should be allowed to take place.

Highlands strengths were easily ticked off: A town with a heart ... a center to focus around for home, work and play; a Norman Rockwell quaintness; so far the expansion that has taken place is "quality" and leaves visitors with a positive impression and shows that Highlands is optimistic about the future; and there is a commitment to the

Last weekend for Playhouse's 'Tenderly'

Tenderly: The Rosemary Clooney Musical premiered last Thursday at the Highlands Playhouse to rave reviews. Based on the life of Rosemary Clooney, who became known as America's "favorite girl singer," Tenderly is not a typical "jukebox musical." It offers a fresh - remarkably personal and poignant - picture of the woman whose unparalleled talent and unbridled moxie made her a legend. Featuring over five decades of signature songs, the production depicts her successes on film, radio, and TV, as well as her personal struggles.

Closing September 3rd, there is still time to catch this inspiring musical biography. Tenderly: The Rosemary Clooney Musical shows at 8 pm today through Saturday with Saturday and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $38 for adults and $20 for veterans and students with ID and are available online at HighlandsPlayhouse.ORG or by calling the box office at (828) 526-2695. Group rates are available.

Spirituality of Sound

Rev. Dr. Francis Xavier Arockiasamy.
B.Th., M.Ed., Ph.D.(Physics)
Our Lady of the Mountains
Catholic Church

Sound, including music, plays a vital role in any religious worship. Sense is a faculty by which the body perceives an external stimulus. Humans have a multitude of senses: touch, movement, smell, taste, sight, hearing, balance. Hearing is one of the important senses of our physical and spiritual life. As with all the senses, hearing is not essential, but in our physical life it vastly facilitates communication. In our spiritual lives, as St. Paul tells us in Romans 10:17, "...faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God". We hear the Word of God through sound: spoken or musical.

Physics tells us that sound waves are caused by vibrations and carry energy through a medium. The speed of sound depends on the temperature and the material through which the wave travels. The volume of sound is determined by intensity, which is measured in units called Decibels (dB). Humans perceive loudness on a logarithmic scale. 0 dB refers to the quietest sound a human can hear. A sound of 120 dB is at the threshold of pain and extensive exposure to sounds above 120 dB can cause permanent deafness.

Pitch is a measure of how high or low a sound is and depends on the sound wave's frequency. The human ear can hear sounds from sources that vibrate as slowly as 20 vibrations per second (20 HZ) and as rapidly as 20,000. Most musical instruments produce sound through vibration of strings, air columns or membranes. The human ear is an organ that senses vibrations in the air, amplifies them and then transmits signals to the brain. Yet, our perception of sound must be but a shadow of the sound of the voice of God.

We see in the Old Testament that God created the universe by the Word of his mouth. In the book of Genesis, the story of creation shows the effect of God's voice creating all things. For example, in Genesis 1:3, God said, "Let there be light", and there was light. His voice creates: sound waves from God vibrate and carry energy to create a new thing. St. John tells us, in the New Testament, that Jesus Christ is the Word of God. While this is a mystery beyond our complete understanding, we might consider that Christ, who existed from before the beginning, is that energy by which creation occurred.

Sound waves help us to praise and worship God. In the Holy Bible, we learn that sound has a great role in our worship of God. For example, when the people of Israel were saved by the Lord, crossing the Red Sea and witnessing the destruction of the Egyptian army, Moses and the Israelites sang a song to the Lord to celebrate the

Love at First Visit

Two clients in the last seven days have purchased homes on their first trip to The Plateau.

"You are so lucky to live here" is a statement that I hear from five year olds to eighty year olds on a frequent basis. They are so right!! After seventeen years of living full-time in Highlands, my husband, Wood, and I still pinch ourselves daily that we are blessed to live and work in such a beautiful area with so many wonderful people. Here are just a few reasons that so many people fall in love at first visit:

1. The Climate. One of the clients that recently purchased during their first visit live in Vero Beach, Florida. Last August, they rented a place in Asheville for the month of August. They said the temperature in Asheville was higher than the temperature in Vero Beach for the same month. They rented in Highlands this August, and the temperature is 20 degrees cooler;

2. Natural Beauty. With seventy percent of the land deemed as National Forest, one can see miles and miles of lush trees and natural landscape;

3. Happy Residents. No one has to move to The Plateau. No one gets transferred here. We are all here because we want to live in this special spot which contributes to everyone being in joyful moods most of the time;

4. Culture. For such a small area, there are so many opportunities to experience and appreciate cultural events

5. Fine Dining. The quality of the many five-star restaurants provide an ample opportunity to experience a variety of excellent dining options;

6. Shopping. On a recent trip to Atlanta, Wood and I popped in Saks Fifth Avenue at Phipps Plaza. There was not a single item that we wanted. The local shops have so much more higher quality merchandise and tasteful clothes and items that I never want to shop anywhere else;

7. Sports. For a golf enthusiast to a croquet aficionado and everything in between (tennis, swimming, canoeing, rafting and more), every jock has a sport to enjoy;

8. Safety. The police reports commonly include a "barking dog" complaint in a certain area. Moreover, a recent police report complained of Larceny and described garbage cans taken by multiple bears. That is considered a gang in this area;

9. Air quality. The EPA rates areas from 0 being the most pristine air to 500 being the most polluted. This area is ranked 39, which is closest to pristine as you can get;

10. Real Estate. I still love mountain real estate more than I love our furry kids (almost). The quality and the beauty of the homes in this area continue to surprise and delight me. One can turn down a gravel drive and stumble upon a beautiful estate with a breathtaking view. This is not rare but common. The market is up 14% in unit sales and 3% in volume so far this year. I believe this upward trend will continue for the foreseeable future.

Whether you are here to experience the Labor Day Holiday for the first visit or you are here for the 30th year, may you enjoy and appreciate this piece of Paradise and appreciate what so many people of all ages have said to me recently: "You are so lucky to live here."

Dazzling Dahlia Festival returns September 14-16

Mark your calendar for the Seventh Annual Dazzling Dahlia Festival Sept. 14 - 16 to benefit the Highlands Historical Society.

Festivities begin with "Dulcimers, Denim & Dedication" on Thursday, Sept. 14 at the Highlands Historical Village, at 520 N. 4th Street. Prince House will be open for viewing from 4-5 p.m., followed with the National Registry Plaque Dedication Ceremony of Prince House from 5-5:45 p.m. These events are free and open to the public. The Patron Party is from 6-8:30 p.m. Celebrants should dress in denim and enjoy a delicious dinner, including fried chicken with all trimmings and live music featuring local musicians. Tickets to the Patron Party are $100 and available at www.highlandshistory.com

Mayor Pat Taylor signed a Proclamation naming the week of September 10 - 16 Dahlia Week in recognition of the 7th Dazzling Dahlia Festival. Pictured from left are committee members Ruthie Oliver, Kim Daugherty, Mayor Pat Taylor, Kathy Ward and Obie Oakley.

The Dazzling Dahlia Show is Saturday, Sept. 16 from 1-4:30 p.m. at the Highlands Civic Center at the Recl Park. The admission fee is $5 to view the beautiful dahlias on display, including the winners. Local dahlia expert, Mary Dargan Palmer will give a presentation at 2 p.m. on growing dahlias. Dahlia floral arrangements will be available for purchase.

To enter dahlias in the Show, bring them either Friday, Sept. 15 from 4-6:30 p.m. OR Saturday, Sept. 16 from 8-10 a.m. to the Highlands Rec Park. The entry fee is $15 for eight blooms. The "Best in Show" blossom will be featured in the publicity for next year's Dazzling Dahlia Festival. There is a category for those 17 years and younger to show their growing prowess. ## Columnist Penn pens new book

Banjo Penn and Kathy Manos Penn announce the release of their first work of fiction "Lord Banjo the Royal Pooch."

From humble family dog to Royal Pooch, what a difference a doggie DNA test makes. When Banjo discovers his royal roots, he realizes he's destined to rule—and to write. His two priorities are to protect his Royal Flock and to tell his story. And so begins the daily writing ritual: Lord Banjo barks and the Royal Mum types.

This entertaining tale covers a year in his Royal Life with the Royal Mum and Dad and the Royal Critter Sitter. Puddin' and Tinker, who share the Royal Abode, make clear what they think about their brother's royal status.

Available at The Molly Grace across from Town Hall on N. 4th Street in Highlands.

Have You Fixed Your Dirt Crawl Space?

There are three things that destroy materials in general and wood in particular: water, heat and ultra violet radiation. Of those, water is by far the most destructive.

Protect your home from:

- Mold
- Bugs
- Structural Damage
- Smells & Odors
- Loss of Storage Space
- Radon Gas
- Rising Energy Costs

The earth in your dirt crawl space is the major source of moisture in your home! This moisture is carried up into your house from the natural upward air flow created from rising heat.

memory of God's events. In the book of Exodus, 15:1-21, they sing, "I will sing to the Lord, for he is gloriously triumphant; horse and chariot he has cast into the sea." In the book of Psalms there are 150 songs of praise and worship of God. For example, in Psalm 95:1-2: "Come, let us sing joyfully to the Lord; cry out to the rock of our salvation. Let us greet him with a song of praise, joyfully sing out our Psalms." The book of Song of Songs contains, in exquisite poetic form, the sublime portrayal and praise of the mutual love of the Lord and his people. In the Gospel according to Luke, 1:46-55, we see the Cantic of Mary. In the second part of the scene, Mary proclaims her prayer of praise. She offers a foretaste of what God will accomplish in the Son she carries in her womb. Two of the Gospels mention the fact that Jesus and His disciples sang a hymn at the end of the Last Supper. (Matthew 26:30 and Mark 14:26).

In Spirituality, our sense of hearing helps us to feel the presence of God. For example, music is an important part of our liturgy as we praise God and his creation.

When we listen to choirs and musicians, we see the creativity of the talent they have been given. When we hear them and raise our own voices, according to Physics, it is nothing but the vibration of sound waves, but in our minds and spirits it is joyous worship.

In the Gospel according to Mark, 7:31-37, Jesus uses His healing power to enable a deaf man to hear. In two of the Gospels (Matthew 11:15 and Mark 4:9,23), Jesus speaks of those who have "ears to hear". Jesus knows the importance of hearing. Like Him, we must recognize that the Spirituality of sound is essential for our lives to be their fullest.

...PLANNING continued from 17

town's original plan.

"The plat of the town Kelsey and Hutchinson laid out is hanging on the wall in Town Hall and it is still referred to," said Planning Board Chairman Thomas Craig. "We have really good zoning in place and Highlands wouldn't look like it does today if its zoning didn't exist."

Noted weakness were a Main Street that looks like a parking lot most of the time; bunched up traffic, the need to make Main Street more pedestrian-friendly; the need for a parking garage just off Main Street was discussed at length; inconsistency of cell phone coverage – something the town is addressing with its public/private internet initiative; the need by in-town recycling – something the town is addressing with the county which has offered a multi-bin for $16,000. The town is considering placement somewhere on Rec Park property but doesn't believe it should have to pay for the bin.

Consistent code enforcement was also noted particularly as it pertains to machinery being used before or after allowed hours.

Bowen also noted the need to protect the native plant and flora and the town's historic structures. "These are some of the reasons people fall in love with places."

The goal of the Planning Board is to create a comprehensive plan that "matches the built environment with the natural environment that makes sure the town can provide services to both."

The Planning Board meets in the evening the fourth Monday of every month at 5:30 in the Community Building on Poplar Street. Bowen encourages the public to join in on the discussion.
